Didsbury Cattlemen Will Export Purebred Herefords

The reputation of Didsbury cattle-men as breeders of fine Hereford cattle has spread wide and as a result, at least two carloads of purebred Herefords will be shipped to widely separated points in the United States.

R. A. McFarlane will ship a full carload from his splendid herd to Chicago. The car will comprise 5 2 year-old bulls, 8 2 year-old heifers, and 16 spring calves. The cattle are of Kruger breeding and the herd was headed by "Pine Coulee Headlight" and "Beau Ideal."

Stockmen who have looked over this herd, claim it to be one of the best herds in the province.

The buyer of the cattle purchased them by mail, having looked over the herd last summer.

We are informed that this is the first full car of purebred cattle to be shipped out of this district by one man.

Mr. McFarlane will accompany the cattle to Chicago.

Mr. H. Dorsch of northern California, picked up a carload of purebred Hereford bull calves on Monday and will ship them to the States as soon as arrangements can be completed.

He purchased sixteen head from A. Robertson & Sons, 8 head from Ed. Klinek, 3 head from A. M. Robertson, and others from Hughes Bros., Francis Farms, W. Bohannon and W. Moore.

Favors Abolition of Exams Between Grades 9 and 12

Abolition of all examinations between grades 9 and 12 is favored by the general committee drafting a course of studies for Alberta schools, it was declared Thursday by H. E. Balfour, high school inspector, in an address at the annual meeting of the Northern Alberta High School Teachers' Association held in Edmonton last week.

The committee discussed reduction of examinations to four throughout the whole school system, tests to be held at the end of Grades 3, 5, 9 and 12. The new course of studies was only in the "proposed" stage, and if the examinations were reduced, the change would not be in effect until the 1937-38 term.

An attempt was being made to draft the high school into a "dual-purpose" school for preparing pupils either for University or to enter business, Mr. Balfour stated, adding such an innovation as using the same schools had not been attempted in any other part of the world.

At the Movies.

Commencing this week the Friday evening shows will start at 8 o'clock instead of 8:30. Saturday shows will be as usual, 7:30 and 9.

Next week, Friday and Saturday, November 27-28, "The Green Pastures," something new in pictures, will be the attraction. This picture, which dramatizes the negro's conception of heaven, is a veritable classic in its simplicity and sincerity, and evokes smiles both tender and reverent. You will want to see it.

"Broadway Melody of 1936," one of the greatest of all screen musical comedies, will be screened at the Opera House this Friday-Saturday.

Jack Benny, ace radio entertainer, Eleanor Powell and Robert Taylor, two of the screen's latest stars, appear in this great musical extravaganza, which is full of sure-fire song hits. Eleanor Powell leads in some of the greatest dance features of the year.

Jack Bolton and his Braemar Lodge Orchestra will provide the music for a dance after the show this Friday evening. You have heard them over the radio—come and dance to their music.

WEDDINGS

TOOGOOD—LEVAGOODY

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Knox United Church, Calgary, on Saturday, Nov. 14, when Mildred Lucille, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Levagood, of Didsbury, became the bride of Mr. Arthur Toogood, son of Mr. F. F. Toogood, of Calgary. Rev. Mr. Kelloway officiated.

To the strains of the wedding march, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She looked very stately in a gown of white satin cut on empire lines, the skirt ending in a short train. The full sleeves were of lace with tight satin cuffs and the neckline was finished with a Mary of Scotland collar and a pearl clip. The bridal bouquet was of pink roses.

Miss Joyce Levagood, the only sister of the bride, made a charming bridesmaid in a gown of mauve taffeta, on princess lines, the swing skirt and cape being finished with ruffles. A bouquet of yellow spray mums completed the costume.

Mr. John Toogood, youngest brother of the groom, acted as best man.

Following the ceremony, dinner was served to the immediate relatives at the York Hotel.

For travelling the bride wore a brown crepe dress with the new swing skirt, brown tailored coat and brown accessories. A stole of red fox furs completed the costume.

The happy couple left by car for a three weeks' honeymoon to the coast.

AMOS "DAD" WILKINS

One of the original members of the Second Battalion Rifle Brigade which took part in the Ashanti uprising on the Gold Coast in 1873, Amos "Dad" Wilkins died Friday at the home of his son, Sidney C. Wilkins, northeast of Didsbury. He had formerly resided in Calgary.

Born in Surrey, England, 85 years ago, the late Mr. Wilkins came to Alberta in 1911. He was a life member of the Imperial Veterans' Association and the Canadian Legion. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. H. Morgan at the Park Memorial Chapel, Calgary, on Monday afternoon.

At the age of 20 Mr. Wilkins joined the 2nd Battalion Rifle Brigade. During the years 1873 and 1874 he was on the Gold Coast, spending a considerable time fighting King Wolfe Kalkalli, who opposed British rule and was responsible for the Ashanti uprising.

Surviving are two sons, Sidney, well known farmer in the Didsbury district, and Frank A., of Calgary; five sisters, 33 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Bridal Shower.

A bridal shower was tendered in honor of Miss Mildred Levagood at the home of Mrs. A. M. Robertson on Saturday, November 7th, when about 40 friends were present.

After a short program little Margaret and Donald Robertson, dressed as bride and groom, pulled a decorated wagon loaded with beautiful presents for the bride into the room, and the bride-to-be expressed her thanks for the kindness of those present.

A social time was spent and the friends all offered their best wishes. A delicious lunch served by the hostess closed a delightful gathering.

Presbytery Rally.

On Tuesday afternoon, a presbyterian rally of the W.M.F. was held in the Knox United Church, when visitors from Olds, Bennet, Hamner, Carsairs and Crossfield were present. Isabel Griffiths of Toronto was the guest speaker. Musical selections and a dramatization of the first chapter of the study book was given by Olds. Other auxiliaries took part in the program, which was followed by the serving of tea.

The C.G.I.T. entertained Olds at a rally Tuesday night, when Miss Griffiths was again the guest speaker. A re-dedication service was conducted by Mrs. Boorman and Betty Boorman. Lois Edwards conducted a sing song and Mrs. Wilfred Klein had charge of the games period. A short musical program was rendered followed by lunch. The rally closed by forming a friendship circle and singing "Follow Christ the King" and "Taps."

Selecting Municipal Representation

With the near approach of the annual municipal elections in urban centres and rural districts throughout the prairie provinces, the time has arrived when citizens might well devote some serious thought to the type of men (or women) who should represent them in the local councils during the coming year.

While at all times the question of the quality of representation on municipal councils is one of considerable importance, this year it is one of much magnitude, partly on account of the difficulties of local government occasioned by problems arising out of the depression and partly because of the restlessness of the changing times and changing viewpoints, particularly on social and economic problems.

From small but vociferous minorities one hears of suggestions and plans for changes which, if put into effect, might constitute a threat to the continued existence of democratic government in this country and there is always a danger, under a democratic form of government, of minority groups imposing their will on the majority, if the majority are apathetic about the conduct of their own affairs.

For this reason, if for no other, it is highly important that the citizens of this country take an active and intelligent interest in their own business—the business of government, whether it be in the local councils, the provincial legislature or the wider Federal arena.

It is unfortunately the case that sometimes municipal election issues are decided by a comparatively small percentage of the electorate because so many refrain from going to the polls to express their desires through the ballot. If this results in the election of representatives unacceptable to the majority and the imposition of policies inimical to their interests those who refrain from casting their ballots on election day have no "come-back" and deserve none.

To many it may seem that local affairs are of little importance. They appear trivial when matched with provincial issues or Federal policies and this misapprehension sometimes leads to an attitude of nonchalance on the part of a section of the electorate.

On the contrary, however, it should be remembered that despite the fact that local municipal units are the creation and, therefore, the creatures of a superior government, nevertheless local self-government is the bulwark of the people and of all government, and with the extension of activities and authority imposed upon municipal councils in recent years is becoming increasingly so.

Not only that, but in many matters closely affecting the lives and welfare of the citizens of the country, the major governments have adopted the custom of seeking the advice and assistance of local municipal representatives in an increasingly large measure. They regard them, properly, as the mouthpiece of the district they serve and more often than not defer to their wishes.

For this reason, as well as the necessity of having men capable of administering local affairs wisely, it is highly important that the municipal electors use care and sound judgment in selecting the men who are to represent them in the councils, that all the electors participate in the function of casting the ballot and that once having made their selection the electors support their representatives as long as they prove worthy of the high trust imposed in them.

If the great majority of the electors take these duties seriously, less will be heard of trivial matters being injected into municipal election campaigns and municipal council debates and there is less likelihood that elected representatives will listen to insistent demands of organized minorities or individuals who seek concessions or make proposals adverse to the interests of the great rank and file of the electorate.

One sometimes hears it stated that it is difficult or impossible to induce the best-fitted to accept nomination for public office. If that is so, it must largely be the fault of the percentage of the electorate who decline to take an active interest in their own affairs, both in the matter of selecting candidates and in giving them hearty support in devising and carrying out measures and policies for the benefit of the community as a whole.

Such comments are not, of course, applicable to all municipalities, and perhaps not even to a majority of them. In many cities, towns, villages and rural municipalities in the three prairie provinces, the electorate demonstrates a highly intelligent and active interest in its own affairs, and as a result their business is conducted wisely and well by capable men and men of integrity who justly command a respect and confidence which is not confined to the communities they serve.

Drought Danger

Little mentioned among the drought hazards to cattle is the possibility of the animals eating the hearty Sudan grass, cane or any kind of grain sorghum which, although stunted in growth by the dry weather, will stay green long after the normal feed grasses have withered. The Department of Agriculture reports that in eating these plants live stock may consume a deadly dose of hydrocyanic or prussic acid, present in the plants.

No Campaign Speeches

Alaskan Woman Is Elected By Visiting Voters By Aeroplane

Alaskan first woman legislator, Flying Nell Scott, was elected without making a single campaign speech. The Seldovia woman's aerial campaign ignored both political practice and traditions of feminine talkativeness. She let her masculine opponents have the first and last word, while she took the votes. She covered the district in an aeroplane, having heart to heart talks with individual voters and key persons in organizations. Her platform was based on popular Alaskan issues: Abolition of fish traps; enactment of social security legislation; financial aid to prospectors; substantial bounties on predatory animals, and more and better aeroplane landing fields.

U.S. Naval Strength

America's Naval Fighting Power Has Been Reduced

An official report disclosed that America's naval fighting power had been reduced since July 1 while other major nations were increasing theirs.

The figures, made public by the navy department, showed the United States, chiefly by scrapping old warships in accordance with provisions of the soon-to-expire London treaty, had cut its naval strength from 324 ships of 1,080,715 tons to 306 ships aggregating 1,062,875 tons.

Supplies Reach Coppermine

Hudson's Bay Boat Gets Through The Ice After Difficulties

Relieving anxiety which has lasted for months, supplies have finally reached Coppermine, principal base in the Central Arctic, according to reports reaching Edmonton. Blocked for weeks by huge ice floes in the Arctic the schooner Audrey B., under charter to the Hudson's Bay Company, carrying supplies to the trading posts, has finally made its way through the ice of Coronation Gulf, reached Coppermine, and now is frozen in at that point.

Owners of the schooner, Jack Lickert, Bill Storr, Art Watson and "Slim" Purnell have sent word of their safe passage and a radio telegraph message to this effect has reached Edmonton.

The other Hudson's Bay supply ship made Coppermine safely on October 6. Aboard her was Ray Ross, company post manager of Reid Island, and his bride, the former Miss Lillian Smith of Edmonton.

Girl Took Isolated Post When Lonely Man Gave Up

Lone white girl on the northern shore-line of Lake Athabasca, north of Goldfields, Sask., Miss Helen Barr prefers the dog sled to the newest models in streamlined automobiles. She is the school teacher at Cannery Bay, isolated fishing settlement across the bay from the gold town.

Miss Barr came north from her home in Imperial, central Saskatchewan, to teach school at Fort Chipewyan. When the male teacher resigned at Cannery Bay, because the post was too lonely, she accepted the position. Her pupils range from 5 to 20 years of age.

Amazing Fast Flight

Birds Fly From Florida To Alaska In A Month

Among the most amazing instances of the speed with which some species of birds accomplish their migratory flights cited by Frederick C. Lincoln of the bureau of biological survey in his pamphlet, "The Migration of North American Birds," is that of the gray-cheeked thrush.

"This bird," Lincoln says, "winters in Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Venezuela and British Guiana and does not start its northward journey until many other species are well on their way. It does not appear in the United States until the last of April—April 25, near the mouth of the Mississippi, and April 30 in northern Florida."

A month later, or by the last week in May, the bird is seen in northwestern Alaska, the 4,000-mile trip from Louisiana having been made at an average speed of about 130 miles a day."

Handling Of Horses Is No Longer Compulsory Subject In Mounted Police Training

Horses are still an important element in the equipment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police although it is now possible for a man to be a mountie without being a good horseman.

"Equitation," as the science of riding and handling horses is called, is no longer a compulsory subject in the training of Mounted Police recruits.

The work carried on by Canada's ancient red-coated force is constantly becoming more specialized and motor cars, motorcycles, dogsleds, aeroplanes, cruisers and patrol boats combine to push the horse into a somewhat limited role in the transport setup.

During the past year a "mounted section" of the force was formed and in this section the horse still occupies his customary place.

The annual report of Sir James MacBrien, commissioner, just issued, states formation of the mounted section was due to the difficulty of completing the training of some recruits in the prescribed period of six months if intensive training in equitation was necessary and also due to "changing conditions of service in the force and the advance of modern and rapid means of travel."

The report also says: "Experience has shown that mounted police when used in connection with dismounted police are of great assistance in the control and dispersal of mobs, unlawful assemblies, etc., and there is no intention of dispensing altogether with the mounted men."

The mounted section consists of several troops of men stationed at strategic points throughout the Dominion, such as Ottawa, Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton and Vancouver. Each troop consists of about 20 men, all of whom undergo intensive training in equitation.

The latest report covers the fiscal year ended March 31, 1936, and during that period horses owned by the force decreased 36, and at the end of the period numbered 241.

The transport equipment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police on March 31 last consisted of the following: 442 passenger cars, 28 motorcycles, 19 motor trucks, 10 cruisers, 17 patrol boats, 226 saddle horses, 15 team horses, 388 sleigh dogs.

Canada's Wheat Trade

Wheat Exports Greatly Increased During First Half Of Current Fiscal Year

Increased value of Canada's wheat trade during the first half of the current fiscal year is indicated in figures released by Hon. J. L. Ilsley, minister of national revenue.

From April to September, both months inclusive, Canada's wheat exports were valued at $109,766,902, compared with $59,005,180 for the same period of 1935. This was an increase of 86 per cent.

This year 127,443,004 bushels were exported, yielding an average of 86 cents a bushel; a year ago the 71,640,907 bushels which went abroad averaged $2½ cents.

The trade figures for the current half year disclose that out of 12 groups of export commodities, only one recorded a decline. Increases in meats, cheese, planks and boards, newsprint and partially manufactured copper were substantial.

Interesting Timepieces

Gentleman Invented A Watch That Played Two Tunes

Mr. John Arnold was a watchmaker. George the Second paid him $2,500 for a watch which he inserted inside a ring. He refused $5,000 from the Emperor of Russia for a similar watch. So there seems little doubt that he was a good watchmaker. But his fame rests mainly on the fact that, for a wager, he once climbed to the top of the spire of Salisbury Cathedral—and it's 404 feet up—and sitting calmly on the top, took a watch to pieces, cleaned it, put it together again, and climbed down. His reward was a few pounds.

Other watchmakers may not have been so spectacular, says a writer in Answers, but they have made some interesting timepieces. Fashions usually go in cycles, and the modern craze which women have for miniature wrist-watches is only a survival of the old days, when craftsmen really were craftsmen and mass production had never been heard of.

One gentleman, a Mr. James Cox, once invented a watch with a musical movement which played two tunes. His pride in his work counted more with him than bread-and-butter, for he ruined himself by making musical watches and other toys which no one could afford to buy.

There are still watches going today which were made hundreds of years ago. One is still going, and keeping time, although it was first wound up in the year 1664.

The "baby" wrist-watch of today has been causing watchmakers some trouble. The accuracy of a watch is governed by the size of the balance wheel, and while, in the rectangular type of wrist watch, the wheel can be of a fair size, there isn't much room in the round type.

And so the works are now being arranged differently. Instead of being grouped together, watch movements are made in two separate layers. The balance wheel has a layer all to itself, and the rest of the works are in a second layer.

This arrangement allows a wheel of much larger size than before to be used, so that the tiniest wrist-watch can now be made very much more accurate.

Rare Albino Bullfrog

Only Known Frog To Sport Blend Of Three Colors

Lilith, rare Albino bullfrog of the St. Louis zoo, is gradually turning yellow and the experts are puzzled.

When she arrived a year ago Lilith was pure white, and the zoo displayed her proudly.

But a few months ago she began to develop dark, splotchy freckles, and the yellow coloring is now streaking down and around the freckles.

This gives Lilith an appearance of mottled white, brown and yellow. The zoo is ashamed of her, and so is she.

Real Albino frogs occur about one in a million. Several eastern zoos have yellow ones and dark frogs can be found on almost any pond. Lilith, although no longer milky white, can still claim the distinction of being the only known frog sporting a blend of three colors.

Zoo officials can't explain Lilith's yellow streaks. She seems healthy, they say.

Easy-Going Teaching

Severe Criticism Is Levelled At Present Educational System

One of the most severe criticisms which continue to be levelled at the educational system of this province, says the Toronto Globe, is the inadequate or ineffective instruction which is given in the correct and effective use of the English language.

Following remarks of Mr. J. G. Harvie, chairman of the Orillia Board of Education, to teachers on the importance of training children in grammatical form, correct pronunciation and clear enunciation, the Packet and Times says: "Unfortunately there is a disposition toward easy-going carelessness in these matters which is earning Canadians an undesirable reputation."

This sentiment is echoed by the Ottawa Journal, which remarks: "Apparently we have not been overly successful in teaching this subject, and the schools continue to turn out young people whose sentences are muggy, who are verbose where they should be concise, take too long to pass a given point, have no conception of proper punctuation."

Of all the subjects at present on the curricula of both public and high schools there is none more important than those which may be included under the general term English. No other accomplishment gained during school years is so useful and so necessary to almost everyone in after life as the ability to write and speak well.

Without a sufficiently recognized standard, carelessness is liable to result. There is also the fact that modern radio, moving pictures, and a great deal of magazine literature are very powerful factors for the teaching of mis-spelling, mispronunciation, slang phrases and other undesirable tendencies which the teacher has to combat. It is not only a question of teaching correct English, but it is also a case of having the pupil "unlearn" much that he picks up from sources outside of the classroom.

A child adopts the tongue of his parents and forms habits of speech at a very early age. It is necessary, therefore, that sound groundwork be established in the first school years so that later teaching, which is equally important, may be built on a substantial base.

Odd Animal Buddies

On a farm at Tyndale, Australia, a kangaroo has developed a remarkable affection for a Jersey cow. The kangaroo accompanies the cow to the pasture, feeds with her, lies down with her at night, and goes to the milking yard and "stands by" while the cow is being milked. If the cow is threatened by a hostile dog, the kangaroo will leap to her rescue and drive off the aggressor.

Attar Of Roses

Perfume Manufacturer From Bulgaria Gives Some Side Lights On Business

Carrying in his vest pocket the scent of an acre of roses, Peter Shipkoff, Bulgarian manufacturer of attar of roses, arrived in Montreal. "It takes between 3,500 and 4,000 pounds of rose leaves to make one pound of attar," he told a reporter in the Mount Royal Hotel, and then pulled a little bottle holding an ounce of the oily liquid out of his pocket.

Instantly a rose garden seemed to come to full bloom in the lobby of the hotel. The reporter put it within an inch of his nose and nearly choked. Concentrated odor was unpleasant.

"Bulgaria is the largest producer of attar of roses," Mr. Shipkoff continued. "We have 70,000 hectares of rose gardens in central Bulgaria. The roses are all the 30-leaved, crimson Damask rose, which we find to be the most powerfully scented."

"This year's production," he said, "is small. It is not more than 2,000 kilograms for all Bulgaria. Yet prices still are low. They are between $9 and $10 an ounce. In pre-depression days the price was $25 an ounce.

Farm Life Advantages

Offers Best Opportunities Of Any Industry In Canada

Farming offers the best opportunities of any industry in Canada to the average man, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, told a group of farm boys at Ottawa.

"There is no place in Canada where the average man can make a more comfortable living, have greater independence, greater freedom of thought or more abundant opportunities for home life than on the farm," said Mr. Gardiner.

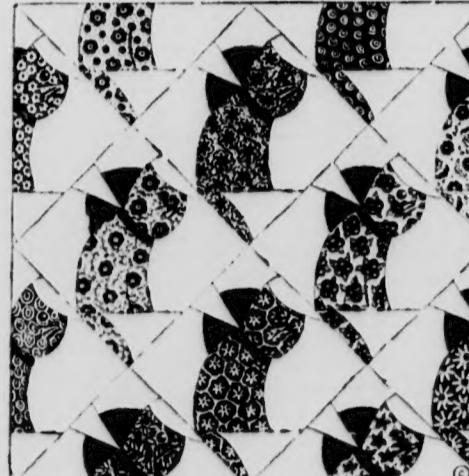

In the past many people had a wrong conception of farming, he thought. Many farmers had tried to give their children an education in order that they could leave the farm and have an easier life. This was a natural consequence of the hardships the pioneer farmers of Canada had met. The proper attitude was to strive for education and culture but to remain on the farm.

Young farmers should get the best education they could. Culture had a place on the farm as well as in the office and a man was no worse as a farmer if he had a university degree.

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

Droll Quilt Motif Invites Your Scraps Calico Cat

PATTERN 5707

"Pretty Pussy" may be just a Calico Cat, but he certainly makes a bright and amusing quilt motif! Make him a "calico cat," indeed, by using up your scraps; it will lend variety to the work and a gaiety to your finished quilt. Dark floss outlines the features. Cat-lovers as well as all youngsters will be delighted with this quilt. In pattern 5707 you will find the Block Chart, an illustration for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for a single and double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

To obtain this pattern send 20 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave., E., Winnipeg.

There is no Alice Brooks pattern book published.

Population of the prairie provinces is moving northward.

Figures for the 1936 five-year census of the three provinces published by the trade and commerce department show the increase in the six most northerly electoral districts amounts to almost 17 per cent. This compares with an increase of 2½ per cent. for all districts.

The total population of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta is 2,414,659 against 2,353,529 in the 1931 census. In the six northerly electoral districts the population has increased from 237,065 to 282,826.

The northward movement is attributed by the department mainly to three factors:

Taking up of farmlands in the newer districts by farmers who have given up their old farms in the drouth stricken areas of the more southern sections of the provinces; development of mining fields in the north, business developed by the Hudson Bay railroad and the new northern ocean terminal at Port Churchill.

In northern Manitoba the district of Churchill has a population of 33,755, an increase of 1,612 over that reported in 1931. In the southern section of this district there are 2,494 occupied farms while in the northern parts are the town of The Pas and the adjoining Flin Flon mining district. The port of Churchill also adds to the population.

In Saskatchewan the districts of Melfort, Prince Albert and North Battleford have a joint population of 151,350, an increase of 29,281. Occupied farms in these northern sections of Saskatchewan number 26,603.

In Alberta the electoral districts of Athabasca and Peace River cover the whole of the northern section of the province. The population of Athabasca has increased from 39,102 to 47,956 in the five years and that of Peace River from 43,761 to 48,755.

Race Of Giants

Survey Shows That Children Of Today Are Two Inches Taller Than Grandparents

Signs that earth's inhabitants may be growing slowly into a race of giants were noted in a worldwide study of heights and weights of young people.

Every 12½ years for the last 30 years, almost four-tenths of an inch has been added to the height of the average college student, the Journal of the American Medical Association reported in an editorial survey.

For the population as a whole, the Journal said, the rate of growth "is somewhat smaller."

In the United States, it continued, "children of today entering colleges and universities seem to average two inches taller and weigh some seven pounds more than did their parents and grandparents."

"A similar observation has recently been made abroad."

To support its conclusions the editorial recited these figures:

In Germany boys entering school between six and 6½ years of age in 1924 were 108.7 centimeters tall. A similar crop of children in 1932 was 114.3 centimeters tall.

In Norway, the average height of military recruits increased 3.01 centimeters between 1878-1887 and 1923-1925.

In Holland, recruits were 6.67 centimeters taller in 1921-1925 than in 1863-1867.

In Sweden the rise was 4.5 centimeters between 1846-1850 and 1921-1922.

In this country, students at Harvard University, Vassar, Wellesley, Smith and Mt. Holyoke colleges added 1½ inches to their average height in a generation.

As the students grew taller, they grew heavier in proportion.

It has long seemed as if that hymn for those in peril on the sea should be altered to those in peril on the highways.

Some people waste a lot of time telling you what they said to somebody else.

Two Sides to the Story.

There's two sides to every story. In Alberta, and throughout Canada, life insurance policyholders and beneficiaries should realize there is more to debt reduction legislation than easing of debt burdens. It goes deeper than that.

It is interesting to learn that 50 per cent of the electors, federal and provincial, are policyholders. Through the institution of life insurance they have pooled their resources, their life savings, in order that their collective strength may withstand the storms and attacks that would bring financial disaster to the individual.

We also know that, despite war, epidemic, panic or depression, life insurance meets every policy obligation promptly and in full. In fact, during the past six years, it has distributed and is still distributing, over $500,000 every working day in the year to policyholders and beneficiaries.

Seventy-five per cent of this money has been, and continues to be, paid to those still living; the remaining 25 per cent going to beneficiaries of dead policyholders. In a word, life insurance is the hard-earned savings of 3,500,000 men and women in all walks of life. It is the greatest co-operative business in Canada. No one doubts its stability; no one questions the prudent direction of its business.

But—there are forces at work in Canada today which menace the very security of every life insurance policyholder in Canada. In an effort to repair wrongs, legislators have gone to the extreme, and cancellation of public and private debts is going on or planned without regard to the debtors' ability to pay.

It would seem to be in the interest of all concerned to stop and think for a moment that promises to pay should be observed to the limit that the debtor is able to pay, for the good of both the debtor and the life insurance policyholders—in thousands of cases one and the same person! Such a policy would not only preserve the good word and honesty of the debtor in the eyes of the outside world, but would also help to protect the life insurance on which his family may any day be forced to depend.

WEEKLY SERMONETTE

Dr. Breckenridge in a sermon before one of the church courts, speaking of the efforts of modern infidels to throw discredit upon Christianity, uttered this bold language: "Why, sirs, you might as well plant your shoulders against the burning wheel of the mid day sun, and try to hurl it back behind the horizon, into night."

The World of Wheat.By H. G. L. STRANGE
Director "Crop Testing Plan."

"Canadian wheat is not generally suited to the British market!"

Such was the opinion of a leading British corn merchant concerning wheat from Eastern Canada in 1822

"Manitoba No. 1 Hard is the highest quality wheat in the world!"

But this was the opinion of the British Grain Trade in 1876 when the first shipment of wheat left Western Canada.

What put this extra quality or "strength" into Western wheat in 1876 and what has maintained it there ever since?

It is the result of probably tens of thousands of years of stored-up fertility in our prairie soil, coupled with much sunshine, and a small annual rainfall which, while sufficient to produce a fair yield to the acre, is not heavy enough to wash the precious nitrates out of the soil.

As well it is the result of the activities of countless millions of workers, the micro-organisms that live in the soil, which transform the fertile humus and other elements into quality-making "soup," rich in nitrates, that in turn make protein available to the plant.

All wheat varieties can absorb this rich "soup," but only a few particular varieties, it seems, are able to transform it into quality or "strength."

The following forces have tended recently to push wheat prices up: Italy continues to import wheat freely, Denmark cancels taxes on import grain, Seeding backward in Balkans and reduction in acreage expected, United States buys Argentine corn heavily, Finland needs large imports of rye, Expected Spain will require large quantities of wheat.

Prices have tended to decline because of: Record winter wheat acreage in U.S.A. and crop in excellent condition, Wheat cutting in Australia now progressing favourably, Indian rice acreage large (estimated at 78 million acres), Demand for Canadian wheat somewhat declining, Danubian countries concentrating on permanently holding export markets for lard.

WEEKLY JOKE

"Yes, I heard a noise and got up, and there under the bed I saw a man's leg."

"No, my husband's. He heard the noise first."

Canadian PacificWill the Act Function?

The people of Alberta are entitled to judge for themselves the unfairness and injustice of The Reduction and Settlement of Debts Act. This is the first of a series of short statements concerning the Act, and its effect on you.

Will the Act function? Be it just or unjust, will it work? There are cases pending in the Courts in which the question of the validity of the Act is raised. Until the decision of the Courts is rendered, it is natural that lending companies cannot be expected in the meantime to prejudice their rights. Companies have been and are still prepared, regardless of what the decision of the Courts may be, to enter upon negotiations and explore all avenues in an effort to arrive at arrangements fair to debtor and creditor, a course which was recently followed by companies doing business in the Province of Saskatchewan.

Debtors should think over their position, and the doubtful security the Act might provide, before brushing aside the undertakings they entered into when they obtained their loans. Those who are not debtors should think what their position will be in a community where promises are lightly cast aside. If you cannot trust your neighbor—if your neighbor cannot trust you—what becomes of security and the basis upon which business and all other human relationships rest?

This statement is one of a series written by The Mortgage Loans Association of the Province of Alberta. The Association is composed of 34 member companies. It represents hundreds of thousands of small investments by typical Canadians. Its loans to citizens of Alberta amount to some forty-five million dollars.

(The second statement in this series will be published in two weeks)

Grain Marketing Enquiry.

The enquiry to be conducted into various methods of grain marketing by Mr. Justice W. F. A. Turgeon will start in Winnipeg on December 1st. Subsequent sittings will be held throughout Western Canada. This one-man commission is to make a complete survey of the production, grading and distribution of Canadian grain, including the methods of marketing by the producers themselves through co-operative and stabilizing efforts, by government Wheat Board and by the open market or competitive system. The commission has a wide scope for its survey which will go into every phase of the grain business.

Some sixteen investigations into the various departments of the grain trade in Canada have been held since 1897. All of these were prompted by complaints from the producers of grain and they all resulted in the bringing about of some beneficial changes in the conditions complained of. The producers' co-operatives have been leaders in instigating reforms and in this way have made valuable contributions to the cause of agriculture in Western Canada.

Social Credit forces in Edmonton's civic election Thursday last went down to defeat, failing to elect a single candidate to either the city council or public school board. The citizens' committee, formed by a group of business and professional men, nearly scored a complete sweep, electing five out of five aldermen and three out of three public school trustees. The committee's mayoralty candidate, J. M. Douglas, lost to the present incumbent by 575 votes, receiving a total of 12,417 to 12,992 for Mayor J. A. Clarke.

All but four of the relief recipients of Wayne, in Drumheller district, shook their heads when they were offered $5.00 in prosperity bonds on their relief slips when the offer was made to them on relief pay day, Saturday. Two-hundred dollars in bonds was taken to Wayne by relief officials, with $180.00 being returned. Relief recipients were asked if they wished to take $5.00 in prosperity bonds, which was voluntary on their part. Offering no reason and making no excuse, all but four said, "Give me the relief slip in full." It was said that 55 drew relief on Saturday.

DOES Friend Husband use the quill pen of the nineties, make his journeys with a horse and buggy, work with out-of-date tools or use his brain for an adding machine? He does not! He uses up-to-the-minute labor-saving, time-saving and money-saving devices.

Put Friend Husband doing housework and what would happen? The bugbears of household drudgery would vanish in quick time. There would be more Electric Ranges, Refrigerators, Vacuum Cleaners, Washing Machines, Ironers, Floor Polishers, and smaller appliances installed in a few months than in all time past.

For Canadian Writers

Short Story Contest For British Empire Authors Only

Opportunity for Canadian writers to win three cash prizes is afforded by the announcement of a short story contest for British Empire authors only.

The contest is being conducted by the well known and established American firm of literary agents, Paul R. Reynolds and Son acting through their London correspondent, John Farquharson. The prizes are £125 (or its approximate equivalent of $625) for first, £75 (or its approximate equivalent of $375) for second and £50 (or its approximate equivalent of $250) for third.

If the winning stories earn more than the amount of the prize from sale of world rights, such further earnings will be paid to the author after deducting the usual agent's commission, the sponsors state.

Also any story which does not win a prize but which attains the standard of American and British magazines will be offered for sale, it is added.

No manuscripts of over 10,000 words will be considered, the agents further declare, and prizes will probably be awarded to stories of between 3,500 and 6,000 words.

The competition closes December 31, 1936.

Manuscripts must be addressed to Paul R. Reynolds and Son, care of John Farquharson, 8, Halsey House, Red Lion Square, London, W.C.1, England.

Paper Changes Ownership

Toronto Globe, Founded In Pre-Confederation Days, Passes Into New Hands

Ownership control of the Toronto Globe, metropolitan daily founded in the pre-Confederation days of Canada's history, has passed into the hands of C. George McCullagh and William Henry Wright.

William Gladstone Jaffray, president and publisher of the 92-year-old newspaper since 1914, announced that he had relinquished his interest and connection with the morning paper and that 60 per cent. of the shares of the company had been purchased by the new owners. The amount involved was not disclosed.

The Globe now carries in its masthead the name of Mr. McCullagh, who, at the age of 31, becomes the fifth president and publisher of the paper. He thus becomes head of the newspaper which 20 years ago he hawked on London streets.

The new president, in assuming control, announced that the historic traditions of the paper will be continued; that politically it would be Independent-Liberal.

Train Despatching By Phone

Is Superseding Telegraph For Transmission Of Messages

The telephone gradually is supplanting the telegraph in train despatching, according to reports made to the telegraph and telephone section of the Association of American Railroads.

"The telephone," said a statement issued by the association, "on Jan. 1, 1936, was being used in the transmission of train orders over 148,799 miles of road, or 63.53 per cent., while the telegraph was being utilized only over 92,466 miles.

"This is a material change from conditions prevailing in 1920, when the telephone was being used over 119,554 miles of road, or 48.5 per cent., while the telegraph was used over 131,667 miles.

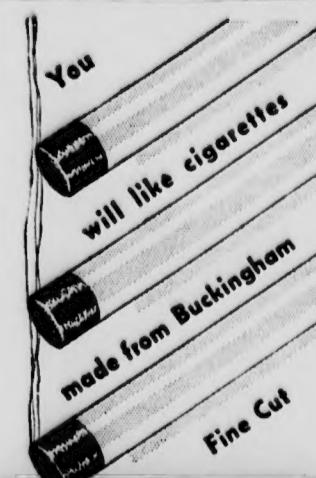

"Particularly has the telephone proved its superiority in emergencies in train operations. By using a way station or portable telephone the engineer or conductor can communicate directly with the train dispatcher or division superintendent, thus giving him more first-hand information in less time than with the telegraph."

Tests show that an automobile that can travel 18 miles on a gallon of gasoline at a speed of 30 miles an hour, will travel only 12 or 13 miles on a gallon at 60 miles.

Do Not Want Trophy

Owners Of Record Breaking Queen Mary Think International Speed Competition Not Desirable

Owners of the record-breaking Queen Mary are embarrassed—they're afraid they'll be offered a cup.

Although the ship won the trans-Atlantic blue ribbon, the Cunard-White Star Company issued a statement saying the company does not want the Hales trophy which goes with it.

In fact they would "feel obliged to refuse it if offered," the statement said.

The trouble is that directors of the line believe international trophy competition, as they say, introduces an undesirable element into the operation of steamship services."

Herds Are Reduced

Some Southern Alberta Ranchers Reported Short Of Feed

Ranchers of Alberta's foothills, their pasturage ruined by last summer's drought and an extended Indian summer during September and October, are cutting down their herds to suit their feed supplies.

A prospect that winter feeding grounds for some would be found closer to home was seen in the sugar beet country south of Lethbridge, Alta. Pulp and tops from the beets, a waste as far as the sugar industry is concerned, has been proved an excellent fodder and soon a number of feeder cattle will be moved into the area. Around the new Picture Butte plant alone it is expected nearly 4,000 head will be wintered.

England Loses Landed Gentry

Migration Of Old Families To The Dominions Is Noted

That monumental classic of aristocratic reference, "Burke's Landed Gentry," recently published its centenary issue.

The editor, drawing attention to the migration of old families to the Dominions, instances one head of a family of Norman stock owning more acres in Australia than his ancestors ever did in England. A descendant of squires since Henry VIII, though holding but a handful of acres here, can count his property in Canada by the square mile.

Italian Rule In Ethiopia

Red Cross Doctor Says It Is Better Than Chaos And Anarchy

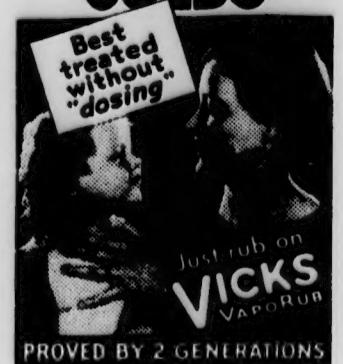

Dr. Thomas A. Lambie, formerly of Toronto and commander of the Ethiopian Red Cross during the Italian invasion, said in New York that "nobody is going to give Ethiopia back to Emperor Haile Selassie." "Ethiopia is still far from being occupied," he said, "but every true friend of Ethiopia believes Italian occupation is far better than the dreadful condition of chaos and anarchy that now prevails, where life is of no value and even women and children are not spared by bands of looters and murderers."

"You cad!" Her eyes blazed with black rage. In that moment she was all fighting spirit. She struck him stinging across his hard young face.

Then they were standing there, their bodies tense with anger. Scant inches between them, and their faces glaring at each other, like two who have begun a feud to the death. The marks of the girl's fingers showed white against the man's tanned cheeks.

The thin hard line of his jaw marked his determination. He meant to win. He said, still in that harsh voice:

"I won't let you back out now! You've started this thing and you've got to go through with it. Do you suppose I'm going to allow you to make a fool of me before everybody?"

Starr's throat was aching and tight. By "everybody" he meant Stephanie, of course. The little sapphire-eyed blond was all he cared about. This whole mad farce was being played for her for Stephanie who had twice cruelly insulted Starr!

She hurled at him bitterly: "You don't care what you do to a woman, do you? You don't care if the whole world thinks she's—she's . . . Oh, you know what they think!"

His lips curved contemptuously. "Getting rather particular all of a sudden, aren't you? It occurs to me you may not always have been so careful of your spotless reputation." He laughed, with no trace of humor. "And you! I thought you wanted to play? You said so . . . I've raised you from obscurity and given you a chance a million other girls might have jumped at! I've given you power—if you know how to use it!"

A curious feeling swept through Starr. Yes, that was true. He had given her power, of a sort. But she was letting it slip away from her because of forbidden emotions. If she could only really be the hard, scintillating siren he wanted her to be!

A little while ago she had likened herself to a puppet dancing on the end of a string. It struck her now she could turn the tables if she chose. She could be the one handling the strings. She could make all these people dance for her; Stephanie, Lance, yes, even the arrogant Michael. Especially Michael!

A savage joy shook her at the thought of making things even with Michael. In that moment, how she hated him! A wild, primitive passion of hate that would have done credit to the daughters of the desert, of whom she was synthetically one, surged through her slight body.

Her smile flashed into his angry face. The mocking, painted smile that was essentially the trademark of the notorious "Play-Girl," the supposedly part-Egyptian whose heritage it was to lure.

"All right, Michael-Hassan, I'll go through with it," she said. "I'll play! Perhaps when I'm finished you'll be sorry that you asked me!"

Starr Ellison did not leave her debut party as Lance Marlowe had thought perhaps might be her intention. Instead, she burst on the throng gathered to do her a curious sort of homage with new energy and vim. There was no reason for anybody to pull the strings. Starr danced. She could not keep still. Her flying feet played all over the great ballroom and she was the centre of every group where there was any particular excitement.

It was while the merriment was at its height, and the blase newsmen who had dropped in were being surprised that it was not "just another party thrown for a would-be celebrity" that she sang for them all. A song of Arab, a desert song of the variety none of them had ever heard. One of the consensus of opinion was that it must be "one of those tribal songs that had come down through the centuries, my dear."

She sang it to her own accompaniment, playing the harp when she preempted it from its owner in the orchestra. Michael's eyes widened when he saw her. Another accomplishment! Gad, that girl was a continual surprise. Where had she ever learned all the things she knew? He was beginning to wonder about her a little, in spite of having told her he had no interest in her save from the moment of meeting her.

The song she sang "made" the papers the next day, along with an account of the debut party of "Play-Girl."

"The love of women is like a date that is golden in the sun. That is golden—the love of women is like a gazelle that comes to drink—to drink at the water springs—The love of women is like the nargileh, and the dust of the keef that is mingled with tobacco and honey. Put the reed between thy lips, O loving man! And draw dreams from the hashish that is the love of women!"

The next day, New York was undecided whether to play up the line, "O loving man!" or "the hashish that is the love of women."

CHAPTER VIII.

Michael Fairbourne stood alone at one end of a long, luxurious room, twirling a tiny glass absently in his strong fingers.

It was the hour which once was the tea hour, but which long since has been subtly transformed into the cocktail hour, first by Manhattan's smart younger set, then by the consensus of popular agreement everywhere.

A Japanese butler passed silently with his filled tray among the laughing groups clustered around couches or in little huddles around fireplace or piano, according to notion. In front of a buffet, two or three who fancied their own mixing were giving exhibitions of their prowess with the shaker. Some one's fingers ran lightly over the keyboard in an improvised medley of popular tunes.

Old by now, but they seemed to like it in lieu of a newer hit to take the public fancy. A second butler was as busy with his tray of little sandwiches, caviar and foie gras tidbits as the drink server. A typical Manhattan cocktail hour scene.

This particular scene had as its background Lance Marlowe's penthouse apartment, although it might have been the apartment of almost any of the dozen or more men present, so familiar was the gay setting.

Stephanie Dale was not there. Stephanie had remarked quite definitely:

"I simply refuse to go anywhere where that 'Play-Girl' creature is to be the guest of honor, and that's emphatic. It nauseates me to see all the men swarming around her like moths. If that's the lure of Egypt! Really, sometimes when I see those long eyes of hers that they're all so fond of calling 'mysterious,' I can't help wondering if she's quite white. Are Egyptians white people? And as for the rest of it . . . Well, you can't expect me, Mike, to play second fiddle to a—"

It was rather horrible hearing such a name pass Stephanie's pretty lips. Michael was surprised afterward at the swift way he turned to scold her. He did not quite understand his own reaction, whether his resentment was for Starr, or against Stephanie's use of English that could be more expected in the pages of a Dashiell Hammett story. Stephanie had been as plain as that.

After all, who was he to say whether Stephanie was right or wrong. He certainly had had ideas of his own on first knowing Starr Ellison. At first he had been so sure . . . More recently he had regretted his blunt pronouncement to her that he wanted to know nothing of her past life, that she was beginning to live, as far as he was concerned, on the night he first met her at La Luna. There might have been a reason, at that . . . And Starr had become so difficult. Once she had appeared to want to tell him all about herself. He had discouraged her. Now, when he tried to get anything out of her at all, all he did get was that slow smile of hers, the flicker of her long lashes, the enigmatic look, and her reminder:

"I forgot, Hassan. You told me to you know . . . And you haven't forgotten? I'm from the desert, you know, and 'In the desert one forgets everything, one remembers nothing any more'."

Teasing him, of course, but he was beginning to wish he did know more about this girl who looked so like an Egyptian princess that she fitted inevitably into the setting of her own apartment he had furnished her, and yet was so ultra-modern—so American. . . . Who was she, anyway?

Many people were asking that—especially as touched upon her relationship with Lance Marlowe. There were many who chose to believe she was Lance's mistress. She went around with him with a blatant disregard for gossip; seemed to glory in it.

Yet there were times, when she was off guard for a moment or two, that an almost childlike wistfulness haunted her great, dark eyes. At such times Michael would have staked his life that she was the purest soul on earth, completely routing all his preconceived ideas of her. Why, he could not have told for the life of him.

But there were other times when the age-old allure of the siren flaunted itself in every line of her face and body. At such moments Michael could have believed anything of her. And did.
